Nebraska Children's Groundwater Festival

You and your class are invited to attend the Nebraska Children's Groundwater Festival held at CCC/College Park in Grand Island!

The Groundwater Festival is a free educational event that teaches fifth-grade students about groundwater quality, conserving groundwater use, and other natural resources through in-depth, hands-on activities. This fun educational event will bring the topic of groundwater to life for your students. After attending the festival, students will better understand how important groundwater is to their daily lives.
