March Report to CPNRD

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and Central Platte NRD recently held their FY2026 Local Working Group (LWG) meeting. The Local Working Group recommends to the NRCS State Conservationist how conservation programs like the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) would be used most effectively in their area. The local work group does this by evaluating and prioritizing the resource concerns through their Natural Resource District. These recommendations can include special target areas, cost share rates, which conservation practices should have cost share assistance, or how many dollars could be needed. This work group allows local input into how Federal dollars are spent in their area and across the state. I have listed below some of the LWG findings and recommendations from this year's meeting.

- After reviewing the resource concern list, the working group again confirmed our top 5 high priority resource concerns. Which matched our past list and our current cost share funding pools available to producers in the Central Platte. The recommendation was to continue with all the current funding pools available. We all feel the existing ranking pools are meeting the priority resource concerns of our NRD.
- We also reviewed our current practice payment schedule; this shows the cost share rates available to producers in the Central Platte. We discussed the payment rates, adding, removing, or editing any existing scenarios, and if practice payment caps are recommended.
- Demand for financial assistance has remained high relative to available funds, so the recommendation was to keep all cost share scenarios but review the bills we collected and submit adjustments to the cost share rates on commonly used practices, and to use cost share payment caps. The intent of these gradual adjustments in some payment rates will help to provide more access to the available funds.

Helping People Help the Land
USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.

- We also reviewed how available funds are being allocated between the different funding pools both state and local, to ensure a good balance exists to address the current resource concerns. This was done much like I do at the September Board meeting with all of you, when we review contracts, practices, and the acres treated across the Central Platte NRD boundary.
- Lastly, we reviewed the preferred application cut-off date for all the applicable ranking pools that are utilized in the LWG area. After discussion and review it was agreed that the Mid November application cut-off date currently being used is working well and should be continued.

In conclusion, the Local Work Group has reviewed and discussed the local priorities within our Natural Resources Districts, and agree we are still doing a good job of addressing the priority resource concerns with the tools in place. It was also discussed that as NRCS staff we are still working through changes and/or new programs that have come with the farm bill, RCPP, or with the IRA program. We are also still working through the uncertainties and issues as they come up with the new ranking tool that was released in 2020. This new tool is called the Conservation Assessment & Ranking Tool (CART).
